Tambuzi Garden Roses

A purpose-driven, B Corp certified rose farm with one simple, goal: to grow the very finest garden roses. Because beauty is always worth striving for. Nestled at the foothills of Mount Kenya, just a breath away from the Equator, Tambuzi has been devoted to growing roses since 1995. Our roses are grown across three farms set at different altitudes, each chosen to offer the perfect balance of sunlight, cool mountain air, and fertile soils.

With every stem we grow, we honour our commitment not only to exceptional craftsmanship, but to our people, our community, and our planet. Because at Tambuzi, we know that real beauty isn't just something you see — it's something you feel in your heart. Welcome to our world.

Where you see this icon (the rose) it means this rose has a fragrance.

Care & Conditioning

Hydration (4–6 hours)

- Unpack your roses as soon as they arrive.
- Keep on the SFK (white card) around the heads for support.
- Trim about 1 inch off the bottom of each stem.
- Place the roses into clean water with flower food.
- Let them rehydrate for 4–6 hours in the coolest spot available — ideally at 4° to 6°C
- If your delivery is late in the day, leave the roses to hydrate overnight.

Let them bloom

- After hydration, carefully remove all packaging.
- Give the stems plenty of space so the blooms can open beautifully.
- Keep guard petals, you won't notice them when they open.
- Place roses in room temperature to encourage them to open, this may take 2–4 days.
- Once open, return them to a cool place until you are ready to use them.
